JOKE WRITING CONTEST: SPRING THEME JOKE

Join us for Spring Break Week: April 1st-5th! Available at the circulation desk at PLDL.

Share your best spring-themed jokes! The funniest ones will be featured in our next newsletter.

SCHOOL’S OUT

Every day at 2pm, there is an event for kids. Don't miss our fun-filled activities including crafts and games. Check FB or Flyer for event details.

EMBRACE GLOBAL LITERATURE!

PLDL is committed to enhancing our collection with more international books.

We're seeking input from readers fluent in languages beyond English. Participate in our survey to help us diversify! Find the form at our circulation desk or request email forms from anakamura@pldl.org. Let's broaden our literary horizons together!

Library programs are always open to all!

Reading and Math Support Strategies for Grade K-8

Wed, Apr. 10th at 6:00pm
Presented by Retired Title1 Educator Alexandra Dixon
Does your student need help in reading or math? Could they use one-on-one tutoring? Come learn what help is available!
Begin by laying your book flat on the cardstock or heavy paper, ensuring there's enough to cover it entirely with some extra on all sides.

Measure and cut the paper accordingly, using scissors to trim it from the roll or sheet, leaving space for folding over the edges.

Let your child's creativity flow as they decorate the cover using markers, crayons, or colored pencils to draw their designs or collage images from old magazines.

Encourage them to add text such as their name or the book title using markers or stickers.

Once decorated to their liking, fold over the excess paper on all sides to create neat edges.

Apply glue or double-sided tape along the inside edges of the cover and carefully place the book onto it, aligning it with the edges.

Press down firmly to ensure the cover adheres properly and add any finishing touches like extra decorations before allowing the glue to dry completely.
